

POLISH CREST

Keeping those beautiful Polish crests in condition for showing!

Wondering how to protect that lovely crest on your Polish chickens so they stay in condition? Here's the way the Bailey family takes care of this problem and shared with us.

Using the 3M brand of painters tape, tape their crest up so it stays neat and clean, makes it easier for the birds to see clearly when looking for their food and water dishes. It keeps both feed and water from touching the fancy feathers on their heads. Knock off tape doesn't seem to work as well and you will be taping crest all of the time. The better brand holds up well.

A couple of days before a show Ashley, close the show time, Ashley washes the crest and leaves it loose so it can relax and retain it's normal beautiful "bonnet shape".

Ashley with her birds at home, crest taped and ready for their foray in the chicken coop.
